Taft's Administration Is in Bad Hole, and It Will Hardly Be Helped Out Before Elec-

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Washington, August 13.—It is becoming more evident here day by day that the Taft administration is going to have an exceedingly difficult time proving a clean bill of health when it goes before the people for indorsement in the national election next year. Even ilfe-long Republicans—those who have stayed by the old G. O. P. outlit in its good days and its bad ones—through the exciting times of the Roosevelt regime and the tame ones that make every day alike at the White House now—are beginning to see that aside from talk, hope and expectation, there are several good reasons to believe that next year will see the departure—bag and baggage—from the White House of the Republican party as now organized and operated, in the United States.

No one blames William Howard Taft for the present condition of affa'rs, the fis-a good man, thoroughly honest in all that the word honesty implies, but absolutely unable to see that ho

> ter has been talked over between the President and his legal adviser and that an understanding exists between the two.

Just why Mr. Wickersham should choose to resign or the President should decide to accept his resignation has not been fully explained, yet the statement is out that this resignation will be the next sensation in administration circles.

There are three theories as to the possible reasons for Wickersham's retirement, if he retires.

In the first place, it is explained that this resignation will follow the President's announcement that Dr. Harvey W. Wile, will be kept in the Bureau of Chemistry. Such a move on the part of the Executive undoubtedly would mean a slap at the Attorney-General. It was Mr. Wickersham who unqualifiedly denounced Dr. Wiley's action and recommended "condign punishment."

It is suggested that perhaps the Attorney-General has been too vigorous in his anti-trust prosecutions to minds of honest people, who want an honest administration.

The Wickersham administration in Special little better, and the great head of the nation's law department did himself no credit when he shifted the calcium from himself to the Department of Agriculture, where he is trying his level best to make "Old Borax" Wiley the goat. He may succeed. Wiley may have to go, but thousands of people who have followed Wiley's management of the pure food laws will say. "There goes an honest man!" Then the scene will shift again to the Wickersham stronghold, and what developments will follow, unless they, too, are chloroformed with administration dope, will probably serve to recall the days of Diogenes and the honest man

They're "In Bad."

But with Wickersham and Knox in bad, and poor old "Tama" Jim Wilson, for thirteen years the administration's official farmer, about all in, because he has acknowledged that he does not know what is going on in his department, and that crop statistics and like matters are manipulated to suit the wishes of his underlings, the people may, indeed, look for something real classy when they take hold of the great and only Frank H. or this gentleman by the congressional committees has been merely perfunctory, but some time at no distant day his real investigation is going to begin. Then take notice! That same Hitchcock knows things, and many volumes will be needed to make the records when he comes down from the witness stand. There are just a few facts relating to the baiting of small postmasters all over the country that the Democrats want light upon, a few figures about campaign assessments, and just a bit of information regarding pledges to support William Howard Taft and his band of G.
